WOMEN FOUND CHOPPED TO DEATH; MAN ALSO SLAIN WITH HATCHET

OMAHA, Nebr., Nov. 20. (AP)—A maniac "hatchet who in brutal fury pounces upon his victims as they sleep and smashes in their skulls with his instrument of death was sought by Omaha police today for the killing of two women and an aged man and the wounding of another man and his wife within a 48-hour period.

While the madman apparently shays grown persons without mercy he does not harm bables. Three children of two of the families he attacked were left unharmed in their cribs.

The latest victims of the killer, described by the police as "a fiend, a crazy man" were Harold Stribling, 23, former high school football star, and his wife who were attacked early today as they slept. He entered the Stribling's head after a struggle, then calmly turned on the lights, washed his hands and asked Mrs. Stribling's to see the baby. He stood over its crib for several minutes, then forced Mrs. Stribling to see the baby. He stood over its crib for several minutes, then forced Mrs. Stribling to go with him to the East Omaha swamps where she finally escaped after three hours. Stribling, doctors said, probably will die, and his wife is in a hospital, cruelly beaten and may lose the sight of one eye.

The attack on the Striblings came while hundreds of police were searching the city for the maniac for the killing of two women and an aged man 24 hours earlier. His first vitims were Mrs. Walter Resso, 21-year-old mother of three children; her sister, Greta Brown, 18, and J. H. Blackman, 75, an expressman.

Two women and an aged man were the victims, all bearing the Blackman was slain as he slept Sunday morning. His son, Cecil found the body, hammered and chopped about the head, covered with a comforter. A hatchet, stained with blood, and a shoe were found in a woodpile behind the Blackman home.

The blunt side of the hatchet aparently was used in the Blackman killing. In the case of the two women, however, the killer employed the sharpened edge. When Walter Resso, husband of the slain mother, refurned from his milk route yesterday afternoon, he found the bodies.

The form of his wife lay in bed downstairs, covered by a comforter.

Rev. F. P. Culver, who was returned to First Church, opened with prayer, the closing of the old board of stewards was presided over by R. J. Jackson, chaltman, roll was called by R. B. Mitchell, secretary, and after a financial report was made by W. E. Slaughter, treasurer, Rev. F. P. Julver took charge of the meeting.

The following officers were elected for the New Year

Upon motion of R. J. Jackson and seconded by Boyce Martin, J. L. Halbert was elected chaltman of the board, T. J. Walton was elected vice chaltman, and Bob Mitchell, secretary.

The chaltman immediately appointed the following as finance and budget committe: R. J. Jackson, chaltman; C. T. Banister, E. E. Babers, Boyce Martin, H. R. Stroube and J. N. Royell. This committee went into session and prepared the budget for the year, which was adopted by the body.

T. J. Walton was appointed chairman of the assessment committee, other members of his committee and members of the finance and budget committee will meet in the Educational building Tuesday night at 7 o'clock to begin the work of assessments for the new year.

Rev. Van W. Harrell, the new director of religious education, was introduced to the board and made a brief talk, asking for the support of all in his work.

Chairman Halbert inked the board for electing him as chairman, saying he considered it unhonor to serve on any board of an church and especially as chairman of a church the size of Firs Church. He stated that at an early date he would name all of the various committees for the new year, asked for the co-operation of the board, and stated that after assessments, had been made that an every-member canvass would be made by the board on next Sunday afternoon.

INTERESTING SESSION OF CHAMBER COMMERCE DI-RECTORS TUESDAY

A definite proposition concerning an airport for Corsicana, problems of finance, and road matters were among the items holding the attenction of the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce Tuesday morning. Only one director was missing from the meeting.

A budget of $12,000 was adopted after considerable discusson of the financial status of the chember and financial status of the chamber, and the membership and finance com-mittees were authorized to take all necessary steps to achieve that necessary steps to achieve that goal.

W C. Stroube, head of the chamber committee on aviation and dirports, informed the directors that a site had been found that was available for a five year lease. The tract consisted of approximately 75 acres suitable for an airport, and would in every way meet the present needs of the situation. The site can be secured for an annual rentcan be secured for an annual rent al of $800 with an option to pur-chase the tract at the end of the lease. The report declared that 'ne site was suitable, and that the only remaining problem was one of fi-nance, and the deciding of whether or not the lease would be paid for by the city or by private subscrip-

Mayor J. S. Murchisan was querided on the matter and reported that it would be approximately two weeks before the city would be in a position to know whether or not its revenue would stand the additional expense entailed. He stated its revenue would stand the additional expense entailed. He stated that the project could not be handled by voting a bond issue at this time, as the city had reached its limit of bonded indebtedness. The only way the tract could be purchased by the city would be by using the funds available for a park site.

Submitted to City.

It was then decided to have the proposition submitted to the regular monthly meeting of the city commission Tuesday afternoon, and Chairman Stroube, W. P. McCam mon, and R. J. Jackson, were named to meet with the commission, and put the proposition before President C. L. The president declared that the leaders in the movement had gone to considerable trouble in putting the matter before various officials and that they had requived considerable encouragement from R. S. Sterling, one member of the board. A conference will be arranged within the near future with Cone Johnson at Tyler. The principal obstacle in the path of the designation at present was declared to be the bridge across the Trinity river at Wildcat Ferry or some adjacent point; it reriy or some adjacent point; it was announced that both Navarro and Anderson county commissioners courts had agreed that a free ferry could be operated there until such a time as the bridge might be built by the state. It was also reported that within a short time the road from Palestine to the river would be completed with either gravel or concrete.

cxpected to start soon on gravening the remainder of the road in that county.

Attention was called to the fact that the Borden interests had decided to locate a plant in Waco. This plant was sought by Corsicana at one time. J. L. Halbert, chairman of the agricultural committee, stated that the dairy industry was making progress in Navarro county. He asserted that he had recently come to the conclusion that a creamery plant was best suited to the interests of the farmers in this section, pointing out that a whole milk plant prevented the farmers from raising a number of things that could be supported with skim milk.

CHAMPIONSHIP OF DISTRICT 14 FOR CLASS B SCHOOLS IS AT STAKE

By BOB HALE.

A trip to Hillsboro by Coach E. L. Fletcher and Superintendent J. Stanford Halley for the purpose of selecting the time and place to play the State Home-Itasca football game for the championship of the Class B teams of District 14 revealed that the game will be played December 4 in Corsicana. If it is possible the two teams wish to play on Tiger Field in Corsicana, but that arrangement has not yet been settled If Tiger Field is not obtainable then the game will be played on the State Home field as it was settled that the game is to be played in Corsicana. The agreement was that if Conch Fietcher would allow Coach Hill. of Itasca, to name his own date to play, then Coach Fletcher might play the game wherever he reiched. By BOB HALE.

This arrangement was based only on the fact that the executive committee of District 14 would sanction the move and a secret toss between Superintendents Halley of the State Home and Mills of Itasca showed where the game would be played in case that the committee would not approve of the move made by the two coaches and superintendents. The toss however was not even revealed to the two coaches. Luckily, the executive committee lest pight notified Coach Fletcher that they had approved of the move and that the game thall be played in Corsicana on the date named by the representatives of both schools. This arrangement was based only senior surviving officer of the foundered steamer Vestris testified at the government inquiry into the disaster today that if he had been in command he would have broadcast the SOS no sooner than Captain William Carey did.

The witness was Chief Officer Frank Johnson. He said that moderating weather a week ago Monday would have caused him to delay asking for aid until the middle of the morning, though the ship was on her beam ends and her starboard rail awash.

GRUESOME MURDER UNCOVERED NEAR HOUSTON TUESDAY

POLICE SEEK SECOND VICTIM OF FIEND WHO DISMEMBER-ED INFANT'S BODY

HOUSTON, Nov. 21, -(i)— The theory that the mother of an unidentified murdered baby also met death at the hands of a fleud was advanced here today when police records failed to show a report of a missing infant. The baby's mutilated body, stuffed into a lard can, was found in a lonely gulch near here yesterday. The nine-months-old girl had been stabbed and shot and the body dismembered. Police believed the buckshot charge which probably caused her death also killed her mother, and that dense underbrush in the vicinity of the gruesome find may yield another body.

Search was halted by darkness lust night, and a thorough combing of the vicinity was planned today.

The find was made by D. H. Evans, and his 10-year-old son. The boy threw a stick into a small creek for his dog to retrieve, and the dog uncovered the can when he climbed out of the water. Sheriff T. A. Binford and George Andrew, special investigator, ad-mitted today after working all night that they were no nearer a solution of the mystery. A verdict of "murder at the hands of a party or parties unknown" was returned by a justice of the peace who estimated the body had been in the bayou between five and ten days. A complete set of dainty baby clothes and a tattered fragment of a month old newspaper found in the can were the slender clues with which officers were working. Physicians who examined the baby's dismembered body held, to

TEXAS GROWS AIR-MINDED: MANY CITIES ESTABLISHING MUNICIPAL PORTS AND FELDS

Interest in aviation in all parts of the state has been indicated in many ways recently, but particularly by the widespread publicity given the twentieth century means of transportation. A digest of the airport situation in Texas prepared by W. Roy Christian, secretary-manager of the Corsicana chamber of commerce and also secretary of the Texas commercial executives' association, met with a hearty reception.

A second memorandum prepared by Mr. Christian covering recent developments in air travel and air-ports has recently been completed and is now being mailed all over the state.

The report follows:
Action of the Corsicana city council Tuesday afternoon in paving the way for an alrort for our community promises to put Corsicana in line with the alert cities of Texas which are having a part and sharing in the rapid progress of this new era of transportation. For more than a year the chamber of commerce has been making a careful study of aviation and the subject has been on the calendar of major projects to get consistent and ful study of aviation and the subject has been on the calendar of major projects to get consistent and persistent attention, second only to the good roads program and agricultural development. Experience of towns of other years has suggested that no group of far-secing citizens can afford to overlook transportation development—dozens of towns which missed railroads and highways through a lack of foresight and effort have virtually disappeared from the Texas map.

The committee which has been working quietly on this job for the past months, headed by W. C. Stroube, has had the active co-operation of the city government through Mayor J. S. Murchison and R. L. Wheelock, members of the aviation committee. The details remain to be worked out and submitted to the city commission for their final approval to assure a lease on a port, and plans are under way for privately financing their final approval to assure a lease on a port, and plans are under way for privately financing hangars and other improvements.

In view of this prospective achieved that the whole subject of aviation progress will be of particular interest. For that reason we are reprinting a bulletin of the Texas Commercial Executives' Association issued Nov. 20, which summarizes primarily development of the past month in Texas. This association is the official clearing house of information on chamber activities, has as its object "the house of information on chamber activities, has as its object "the advancement of the secretarial profession in Texas," and has no direct connection whatsoever with private airplane companies. The bulletin follows:

Nation Gets Airport Daily.

On October 10, there were listed with the department of commerce at Washington a total of 1,387 airports in the nation—an increase during ten months of 340 fields. Ninety additional airports throughout the country have been proposed and work on many is under way.

The department will make its first rating survey early in 1929 and there has been a rush of cities to get high ratings.

"FIRESIDE FORUM MOVE-MENT" SUPPORTED AT TEX-AS UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, Nov. 22.—(Spi.)—Receiving the hearty endorsement and support of the faculty and the student groups, the "fireside forum" movement, which includes the sponmovement, which includes the spon-soring of discussion groups at nine-teen fraternity houses and eight boarding houses, has been launch-ed by the Young Men's Christian Association at the University of Texas.

Texas.

The "fireside forum" idea is the outgrowth of a movement started several years ago by the Y. M. C. A. in sending students leaders once each week to various boarding houses and fraternity houses to lead round table disdcussions on re-ligious subjects. This project has evolved through various steps until it assumed its present form.

Now the student group is allowed to choose its speakers, and the leaders are faculty members rather than students. Instead of discussions of the control than students. Instead of discussions on religion alone, the forums now center around any subject which is mutually agreed upon by the members of the student group and the speaker whom they have chosen, be it religious, scientific, literary or political in nature. Twelve meetings, or forums, are scheduled for the year, and a different speaker is chosen for each meeting. Among the speakers are listed the most prominent faculty members of the University, including President H. Y. Benedict, Football Coach Clyde Littlefield, President Wm. L. NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(d')—With the federal inquiry into the sinking of the Vestris in its seventh day today, officials said they still were in the dark as to what caused the loss of the liner.

"How a thousand tons or more of sea water got into the ship beyond what was pumped out, is a mystery still to us despite all this testimony," said Capt. J. A. rans in many imission ratios. It have been common Father and Saviour.

Bridging the Ages.

Truly I can testify that man is a praying spirit. Humanity is most completely one when on its knees. "Behold, he prayeth!" is the supreme fact about mortal. When one looks over a book of ancient collects, as I have been doing this morning, the ages are bridged; time is telescoped, and the human heart is seen to be forever and everywhere one, in ite hunger for heaven and for God. "Men ought always to pray, and not to faint."

Our present-day craze for newness and modernity seems pitifully small and stupid when we realize that the deepest aspirations of the universal human heart have best been expressed in the Hebrew literature written more than two thousand years ago. What has our automobile-riding, jazz-loving, luxurious-living generation got in common with the lonely, barren shepherd life of Syria and Arabia, milleniums ago? Just this: that the Psalms voice the most vital and varied moods and experiences of the heart of man more accurately than any literature produced to day. When souls kneel or lie prostrate before their Maker, all the trappings of time and place slip away, and they are simply children turning to a Father for the fulfilment of their old and changing needs.

An Active Life's Secret Springs.

An Active Life's Secret Springs.
Said an oriental teacher. "God quickly fades out of the life that forgets to pray." An old saying puts the same truth on a lower, more material plane, "He who ceases to pray ceases to prosper." Magazines and books abound in discussions of present problems of religion; yet the one comprehensive problem is how to bring back the reality of God to the overcrowded lives of this generation. If the church were to turn to prayer, she would find herself at the same time turning to peace and purity and power. The old missionary slogan might well resound, "With prayer, or not at all." The armies of God can advance only on their knees. Often we bewall our day's lack of great preachers; but a greater shortagge is of secret prayer. Burning hunger of heart, which seeks satisfaction in the appartness of prayer, is religion's first need.

When we turn, as the International Uniform Lesson invariably turns us, week by week, to the Bible itself for light on life, we find that Paul, like his Master. Jesus, was a man of prayer. To him prayer was more of a reality than the mobs or judges or storms or adventures or labors that he encountered. For an explanation of the persisting power of his peer-less life, with its incredibly varied activities, we must look to his habit of prayer. This constant communion with God was the gyroscope which held steady the storm-tossed ship of his ministry.

A Friend's Service to Friends.

As the poet Tennyson cried, "Pray for my soul!

More things are wrought by prayer Than this world dreams of."

So Paul prayed for his friends. Nothing reveals the warm humanness of this great statesman-missionary more than his prayers for commonplace people. By name he bore them on his own heart, and by name he bore them to the heart of God. He well knew that the shortest road to real helpfulness is that which runs by the instinctive cry of even the irreligious in a moment of calannity. But Paul also prayed rejoicingly. To read, only his prayers of thankfulried was a bed of roses, a thi
